IT SEEMED ALL SHE HAD TO DO WAS SHOW UP.

Kathalynn Turner Davis ditched beauty pageants for Hollywood, finding herself in the lingy scene, nightclubs, sexual stage, and lanes of some of the hottest clubs, including the King of Rock ‘n’ Roll. After a successful debut as a movie star, she was launched into fame as “The Holy Holly of the ’60s” she set out for New York City to study under the renowned Stella Adler. That chapter which included marriage, failure, divorce, and a marriage into the world of self-actualization unfolded within the walls of the famed Dakota, next door to “The Masters,” Leonard Bernstein, and John Lennon and Yoko Ono. Next came a new husband and the challenging role of suburban “Stepford wife.” Eventually, Kathalynn enrolled in Columbia University and achieved a master’s degree in social work, which led her down a path of service, reigniting her passion for spiritual growth. Her quest for answers to life’s eternal questions took her to India and Israel, where she found herself face to face with the swami within.

In addition to a long psychotherapy and coaching practice, she is a life coach, as well as an actress and writer. In 2021, she set out for New York City to study under the renowned Stella Adler. That chapter—which included a marriage, divorce, and a foray into the world of self-actualization—ended within the walls of the famed Dakota, next door to “The Masters,” Leonard Bernstein, and John Lennon and Yoko Ono. Next came a new husband and the challenging role of suburban “Stepford wife.” Eventually, Kathalynn enrolled in Columbia University and achieved a master’s degree in social work, which led her down a path of service, reigniting her passion for spiritual growth. Her quest for answers to life’s eternal questions took her to India and Israel, where she found herself face to face with the swami within.

And discovered that she was not just another pretty face.
