Kathalynn Turner Davis ditched beauty pageants for Hollywood, finding herself in the living rooms, nightclubs, sound stages, and lives of some of the era’s hottest celebrities, including the King of Rock ‘n’ Roll himself. After a successful debut as a movie actress (hailed by critics as “the Judy Holliday of the ’70s”) she set out for New York City to study under the renowned Stella Adler. That chapter included a marriage, babies, divorce, and a foray into the world of self-actualization which led her down a path of service, reigniting her passion for spiritual growth. Her quest for answers to life’s eternal questions took her to India and Israel, where she found herself face to face with the swami within.

And discovered that she was not just another pretty face.
